A Rock, A River, A Tree
Hosts so species long since departed,
Marked the mastodon,
The dinosaur, who left dry tokens
Of their sojourn here
On our planet floor,
Any broad alarm of their hastening doom
Is lost in the gloom of dust and ages.
But today, the Rock cries out to us, clearly, forcefully,
Come, you may stand upon my
Back and face your distant destiny,
But seek no haven in my shadow,
I will give you no hiding place down here.

You, created only a little lower than
The angels, have crouched too long in
The bruising darkness,
Have lain too long
Face down in ignorance,
Your mouths spilling words
Armed for slaughter.
The Rock cries out today, You may stand upon me,
But do not hide your face.

Across the wall of the world,
A River sings a beautiful song,
It says, come, rest here by my side.

On the Pulse of a New Day

Greetings:

Fayetteville State University and its entire family of students, faculty, staff, and friends are indeed riding "on the pulse of a new day." The theme of your 1993-94 yearbook, inspired by Maya Angelou's Presidential Inaugural Poem, speaks to many different aspects of life on our campus as well as in America, and to all of our aspirations for the future, both individually and collectively.

For graduating students who have devoted themselves to their studies in anticipation of this new day, the end of this academic year marks the beginning of the fresh, new opportunities and challenges that they have been preparing for with the assistance and guidance of their alma mater. And, through their constantly strengthening personal commitments to achieving excellence in all areas of academic pursuits, personal behavior, and community involvement, FSU's students, faculty, staff and friends can look forward to new dawnings of great opportunities to contribute to the strong and growing pulse of this institution.

The mission of Fayetteville State University is to create imminent new possibilities and opportunities for meeting the challenges of life in the 21st century and beyond, and to provide each student we serve with the capabilities necessary to become vital leaders for positive change in our society. When you review the activities and events outlined in this yearbook in the years ahead, my hope is that it will enable you to recapture and renew that sense of ever-widening, limitless personal horizons that we strive to give each member of the FSU family.

Lloyd V. Hackley
Chancellor

Faculty procession

Each of you a bordered country,
 Delicate and strangely made, proud,
 Yet thrusting perpetually under siege.
 Your armed struggles for profit
 Have left collars of waste upon
 My shore, currents of debris upon my breast.
 Yet, today I call you to my riverside,
 If you will study war no more. Come,
 Clad in peace and I will sing the songs
 The Creator gave to me when I and the Tree and the rock were one.
 Before cynicism was a bloody sear across your
 Brow and when you yet knew you still
 Knew nothing.
 The River sang and sings on.

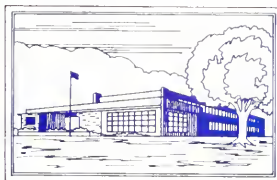

There is a true veaming to respond to
 The singing River and the wise Rock.
 So say the Asian, the Hispanic, the Jew
 The African, the Native American, the Sioux,
 The Catholic, the Muslim, the French, the Greek
 The Irish, the Rabbi, the Priest, the Sheikh,
 The Gay, the Straight, the Preacher,
 The privileged, the homeless, the Teacher.
 They all hear
 The speaking of the Tree.

They hear the first and last of every Tree
 Speaks to humankind today. Come to me, here beside the River
 Plant yourself beside the River.

The Chancellor speaks in dedication of the time capsule honoring FSU's 125th Founders' Day.

Each of you, descendant of some passed
 On traveller, has been paid for.
 You, who me my first name, you
 Pawnee, Apache, Seneca, you
 Cherokee Nation, who rested with me, then
 Forced on bloody feet, left me to the employment of
 Other seekers - desperate for gain,
 Starving for gold.
 You the Ashanti, the Yoruba, the Kru, bought
 Sold, stolen, arriving on a nightmare praying for a dream.
 Here, not yourselves beside me
 I am the Tree planted by the River,
 Which will not be moved.
 I, the Rock, I the River, I the Tree
 I am yours - your Passages have been paid.
 Lift up your faces, you have a piercing need,
 For this bright morning dawning for you.
 History, despite its wrenching pain,
 Cannot be unlived, and it faced
 With courage, need not be lived again.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

Pan-Hellenic Council

FSU PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The FSU Pan-Hellenic Council is the governing body for the seven active fraternities and sororities. Its purposes are to create and maintain high standards in Greek life; to perpetuate constructive fraternity and sorority relationships, and to coordinate and monitor all activities and programs of mutual concern sponsored by Greek-lettered organizations. The Council sponsors campus clean-ups; assists with Black History Month Programs and works with local high school students. Additionally, the Council sponsors the annual Homecoming and Spring Step Shows.

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity

ALPHA PHI ALPHA FRATERNITY Epsilon Zeta Chapter

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity was founded by seven men on Dec. 4, 1906, at Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y. The Epsilon Zeta Chapter received its chapter at FSU on Nov. 3, 1958. The aims of the chapter are scholarship, manly deeds, and love for all mankind. Special projects of Epsilon Zeta Chapter include going to area high schools to tutor students, serving as role models and mentors for young men, and sponsoring motivational programs for the area youth.

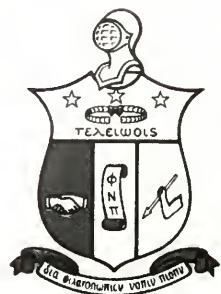

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA SORORITY
Delta Alpha Chapter

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. was founded on Jan. 15, 1908, on the campus of Howard University. Its purpose is to cultivate and encourage high scholastic and ethical standards, to promote unity and friendship among college women, to study and help alleviate problems affecting girls and women, and to be supreme in service to all mankind. Delta Alpha Chapter received its chapter on March 1, 1952, making it the first sorority established on the FSU campus. They sponsor AIDS awareness programs, presentations on Male/Female Relationships and an Easter Egg Hunt for a local day care center. The sorority also created special door signs to welcome freshmen to FSU.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI FRATERNITY Epsilon Beta Chapter

Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity was founded January 5, 1911 at Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana. Its purpose is to achieve brotherhood and shape a group personality unique in the annals of college Greek letter organization around the idea of achievement. Epsilon Beta Chapter was chartered at FSU, April 14, 1962. The Epsilon Beta Chapter assists with Special Olympics and Operation Sickle Cell, visits the elderly at rest homes, and works with young men at the local Jr. High Schools through their Guide Write Program.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority

DELTA SIGMA THETA SORORITY Delta Xi Chapter

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. was founded on Jan. 13, 1913, on the campus of Howard University by 22 women desiring to change the image of sorority life. Thus, they designed an organization dedicated to public service. Their first public act as a sorority was a march down Pennsylvania Ave. in Washington, D. C. on March 3, 1913, in support of the Women's Suffrage Movement. Delta Xi Chapter was chartered at FSU during the early 1950's. The Delta Xi Chapter assists Red Ribbon Anti-Drug Campaign, and sponsors mentoring programs at Reid Ross Jr. High School, Hope Mills Jr. High School and the Boy's and Girl's Club at Grove View Terrace. Delta Xi also participates in the Adopt-a-Highway Program.

RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) at Detachment 607 is a voluntary educational program designed to provide the college students an opportunity to earn an Air Force commission while completing university requirements for a degree. Two routes to an Air Force commission are available to FSU students in the Air Force ROTC. Students may enroll in the Air Force ROTC Four-Year Program or those who have at least two academic years remaining in college (undergraduate, grad-ate, or any combination) may apply for the Two-Year Program.

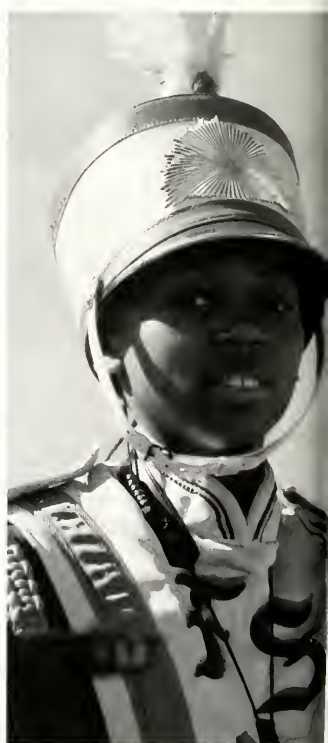

Fayetteville State students in conjunction with the Army/ROTC program at Methodist College will be commissioned in May.

MARCHING BAND

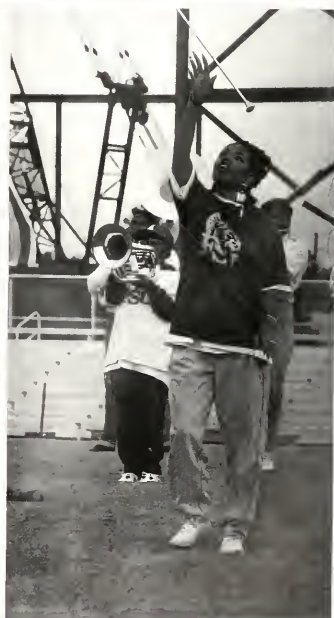

The FSU band consist of four ensembles. They are the Marching Bronco Express, the FSU Concert Band, the FSU Jazz Ensemble, and the Pep Band. The Bronco Express operates during the basketball season, and the concert and Jazz Bands operate during the spring semester. The main goal is to promote good musicianship among its participants. Positive attitudes, dependability, promptness, and willingness to work are vital essentials are necessary to the success of the Band. BINGO is the positive response the band gives its director. When you hear a loud, clear BINGO, things are working!!!

The Broncos' Voice Staff at Fayetteville State University is devoted to producing a high-quality, stimulating, and informative newspaper for the students, faculty, staff, and administration of Fayetteville State University and for the greater community. This newspaper will adhere to the highest standards of writing and journalism, focusing objectively, impartially, and substantively on academic, intellectual, educational, and other newsworthy matters pertaining to Fayetteville State University and to the whole "idea" of the university itself.

The staff of The Broncos' Voice pledges itself collectively to adhere to journalistic, ethical, and university ideals by striving to foster and maintain a multi-ethnic, multi-racial and cross-cultural view on all matters relevant to the student body, individuals, groups, and society itself through its reporting on the cultural, political, aesthetic, historical, academic and educational aspects of life pertinent to the Fayetteville State University community and to the greater society. We further wish to encourage and cultivate intellectual growth and excellence of scholarship in students by exploring and reporting on educational issues that affect the Fayetteville State University campus and the nation as a whole. We also seek, through intellectually stimulating reporting, implicitly to encourage in students independence of mind and clarity of thought and interpretation; to educate them; to foster, through objective, fair, and disinterested reporting, a spirit of humanitarian cooperation and understanding; and unobtrusively to inspire them to contribute educationally, culturally, aesthetically, and ethically to the good of individuals, to the good of society, to the good of the social order, and to the good of humankind.

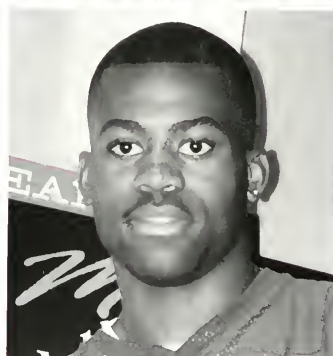

YEARBOOK STAFF

I would like to take this opportunity to thank, and commend the Fayettevillian Staff for a job well done. Their commitment and fortitude is reflected throughout this book. The Student Center Staff has proven to be of great familial support. Thank you all. And to Tommy ... Thank you for understanding the long days. I believe that the effort has paid off. Best of luck to our graduating seniors and Godspeed to all.

The men's team was "under new construction" as Coach Ricky Duckett debuted in his first season as a head coach. Athletics are mainly cerebral and one needs to use intelligence as a part of the game. This year's team definitely reflected the philosophy.

And finally, beyond all this, it must develop men (and women). Above our modern socialism, and out of the worship of the mass, must persist and evolve that higher individualism which the centres of culture protect; there must come a loftier respect for the sovereign human soul that seeks to know itself and the world about it; that seeks a freedom for expansion and self-development; that will love and hate and labor in its own way, untrammelled alike by old and new

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

The basic mission of Academic Affairs is to plan, implement, and evaluate the educational and academic support programs of the university. In addition to a variety of undergraduate and graduate programs, the unit assumes responsibility for program offerings at the Fort Bragg-Pope Air Force Base Center, an extensive summer program, and a weekend and evening college.

Business and Finance plays a major part at FSU. Thanks to these hardworking people, we are able to take advantage of what college has to offer.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The board of trustees is composed of thirteen persons. Eight members selected by the Board of Governors, four appointed by the Governor, and the president of the student government of the institution. Four of the members appointed by the Board of Governors serve a four-year term and two serve for two-year terms. The Governor elects two persons to four-year terms and two persons for two-year terms. The board meets at least three times a year. It is the responsibility for each member to promote the sound development of its institution within its prescribed function. They are responsible for insuring the institutions compliance with the educational research and public service roles assigned to it by the board of Governors.

Former board member Felton Capel.

So, this is what goes on at a board meeting!

Chancellor Hackley and Craig Allen, President of FTCC.

Teacher of the Year

Dr. Inder Nijhawan, Professor of Economics and Finance, nominated Teacher of the Year in May of 1993.

Every year each Department at FSU nominates one faculty member for this award. This award is presented based on criteria such as; professional publications, research activities, proposals or grants, papers presented at professional meetings, and seminars presented. Amongst these criteria, the Chancellor takes into consideration teaching methods, community service and public relations activities.

Congratulations Dr. Nijhawan, we are proud to have you as a Professor at Fayetteville State University.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCE

*Dr. Jon M. Young
Dean, College of Arts and Sciences*

Dr. Young talks with students.

The mission of the College of Arts and Sciences is to provide effective undergraduate and graduate degree programs and courses. In keeping with the mission of the University, the college is committed to promoting the intellectual, emotional, and moral development of all students. The College further seeks to extend its resources for the benefit of the people of Fayetteville and South-eastern North Carolina. The College of Arts and Sciences is the largest academic unit at Fayetteville State University, comprised of seven departments.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

The School of Business and Economics is an upper division unit of the University committed to education for business at the baccalaureate and masters level. The mission of the School is to foster quality education for business and management within the context of the University environment. The School pursues this mission through a variety of means, including offering undergraduate programs in accounting business administration, business teacher education and economics; offering a graduate management program in business administration; helping students with career choices; encouraging students to seek advanced education; and to interact with parties interested in management education.

FACULTY AND STAFF

Dr. Philip McGuire, a history professor in the Department of Humanities, has published a new book for 1993-94. It is entitled Taps for a Jim Crow Army. While doing research at the National Archives, he discovered hundreds of documents detailing the lives of Black soldiers during World War II. The documents recorded the abuses and injustices experienced by the soldiers. This is the first time that these letters have been compiled into one volume. The stories provide a powerful illustration of integration, and confirm many of the discriminatory practices shared by Black soldiers. The theme that Dr. McGuire wrote about is the color barrier that Blacks encountered during the 1940s, and of how today skin color does not prevent Black soldiers from having successful military careers. It took several years for Dr. McGuire to research and publish his book, but it is an accomplishment that the FSU family is proud of. Dr. McGuire is a graduate of Howard University in Washington, D. C.

Lauren Cook Burgess is an amateur historian who's interest in American Civil War history has led her to the study of major Civil War battlefields, historic sites and collections. Burgess's research has produced documentation on 127 Civil War women soldiers. She has written several articles on the subject, and her first book, the annotated letters of a Civil War woman soldier, will be published in 1994. She is currently at work on a second book, a definitive history of female Civil War soldiers. Burgess received her degree in International Relations from the American University School of International Service in Washington, D. C. She is currently serving as Associate Vice Chancellor for Development at FSU.

FACULTY AND STAFF

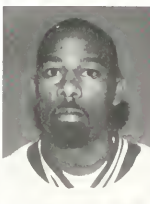

Dr. Juliette B. Bell, an Associate Professor of Biology, received a "Young Investigator Award" from the National Science Foundation. Along with the award she received a $25,000 grant to conduct research. Her research will benefit students at FSU who will learn state of the art techniques in biochemistry and molecular biology. The National Science Foundation selected Dr. Bell's research project, and six others for funding after reviewing 106 applications. The grant is renewable for four additional years, and Dr. Bell has sought matching funds from private companies, non-profit organizations, and corporations. Dr. Bell earned her doctorate in Chemistry and Biochemistry at Atlanta University.

FACULTY AND STAFF PROFILES

Mr. Gene Mason is a psychology instructor here at Fayetteville State University. He presently holds his MSW from Ohio State University. One of Mr. Mason's many accomplishments in the field of social work includes his acquisition of several grants, totaling $1,638,000, for three years. In 1979, while working for the Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services in Independence, Kansas, Mr. Mason established and funded a rural NAACP youth project. Mr. Mason is a student advisor and a sponsor of the African Pen Pal Club. He also participates in many community outreach programs. Mr. Mason has recently written a paper for publication. Mr. Mason aims to motivate students to achieve and expand their horizons beyond the textbook. His future goals include writing two books. In one, he will study the significance of relationships between black Americans and true African Americans. His other book will look at the Black American relationship with American Indians.

Susan Franzblau is a psychology professor here at Fayetteville State. She holds her PhD in Psychology from Stonybrook University in New York. While in undergraduate school, Dr. Franzblau submitted a paper on Content Analysis of Sex on Television. Upon graduation, she took up teaching, which she now enjoys immensely. After returning to Washington D. C. and working at the community level, she realized how important teaching is and effective she is as a teacher. FSU allows her to be in an environment that is rich with cultural integration, a topic of major interest and concern to her. Dr. Franzblau is most proud of her ability to influence people to open her eyes and to expand their minds. Dr. Franzblau has raised her children to be strong, open-minded individuals. Currently, Dr. Franzblau is involved in research of the field of Sexual Harrassment. She is also involved with an organization called Stand Out. Stand Out is a support system for gay, lesbian, and bisexual youth. Her work involves community education to help these youth to help these youth feel good about themselves and learn to establish their place in society. This includes working with parents, church leaders, and mental health educators. Those who support Stand Out are straight and homosexual adults. When asked for a few words of advice for FSU students, she stated, "There is no change without struggle and part of the struggle is learning to tolerate and respect difference."

Dr. Rama D. Datta, Assistant Professor, Department of Humanities, has a lengthy list of credentials both abroad, and in the U.S., as an educator and lecturer. She received her Ph.D and M.A. in philosophy at Syracuse University, NY., as well as an M.A. at Calcutta University in India. She has been nominated as teacher of the year for the College of Arts and Science, and won the J.C. Jones Award for Outstanding Teaching in Humanities at FSU in 1991. Also in 1991, she was accepted as a member of the Aristotelian Society at University College in London, United Kingdom.

In September she was a member of a delegation, of selected philosophers from the U.S., who travelled to China for two weeks. In December she was given the prestigious honor of conducting a seminar at the University of Calcutta. With all of these honors, Dr. Datta still has time to have a personal interest in each, and everyone of her students. The FSU family is proud of Dr. Datta, who reaches into the international community, and shares that knowledge and experience with us.

WHO'S WHO

Each year a committee composed of the Deans, The College of Arts and Sciences, School of Education and School of Business and Economics select students for Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges. The organization and publication are considered prestigious by the students, and the program is highly regarded as a vehicle to recognize students who have achieved academically and in community service. To qualify for election to Who's Who, students must: be classified as juniors or seniors; have a GPA of 3.0 or higher; be of good moral character; participate actively in campus and community organizations have completed at least one year of study at the University. Congratulations 1993 Who's Who students!

CHANCELLOR'S SCHOLARS

The Chancellor's Scholarship Program is designed to offer academically talented students who enroll at Fayetteville State University with financial incentives in an effort to afford opportunities to be academically successful. The program requirements are:

- *Graduation from an accredited high school
- *Completion of specified courses
- *SAT score of at least 1000
- *Admittance to Fayetteville State University

The Chancellor Scholars must perform at least six hours per week of community service; successfully complete a minimum of 15 credit hours each semester; maintain a 2.6 their freshman year, 2.8 their sophomore year, and 3.0 their junior and senior years. It is also important to maintain high personal scholastic behavior.

Besides maintaining and continuing the ideals of this institution, Chancellor Scholar's provide a service aspect as well. These select students can be found working on the campus newspaper and yearbook or assisting fellow students at the testing and tutorial centers on campus. Some scholar's provide volunteer assistance through various organizations in the local community.

Chancellor Scholar's bring a spirit of service, intertwined with high academic standard, and a sense of responsibility to our community and institution. Chancellor Scholar's blaze a trail for other college-bound students to follow. They hope that many others will make the commitment that encompasses this institution, its academic standard and environment. Freshman Scholar, Jimmie Griffin remarked, "if achievement ever ceases, then our community, our institution, our personal honor and the whole concept of us being here suffers."

Robert Glanville, a graduating senior, is majoring in Computer Science and has maintained a 4.0 GPA. Robert is currently the President of the Math/Computer Science Club and served last year as the Vice President. He ran Men's Cross-Country and tutors for the FSU Student Support Services. After graduation, Robert hopes to earn his Doctorate in Computer Science from North Carolina State University and someday serve as a professor at a university.

Dorothy Travis, A graduating senior, is majoring in Sociology with a concentration in Social Work and has maintained a 4.0 GPA. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, a national honor society, Alpha Kappa Beta, a Sociology honor society, and is an All-Campus Senator at FSU and an active volunteer with the YMCA. Her biggest achievement is the founding of the Minority Family Progress Center, which is a non-profit organization that helps women in hardship cases get back on their feet. A phrase most often heard from Dorothy is "He can, who thinks he can."

A Mathematics major, Eric Walker is planning to graduate next December. He is a transfer student from East Carolina University but wishes he had spent his entire academic experience here. "F.S.U. has given me the ability to look within myself and realize that I have the ability to help others reach their dreams and goals." Walker volunteers as a math tutor and on weekends he travels to Charleston, S.C. where he serves as an aircraft mechanic with the Air Force Reserves. Eric wants to pursue another degree after graduation in Engineering and earn a commission as an Air Force Officer and do work in Electrical Engineering.

Eric believes "Where there's a will, there's a way."

A sophomore Mathematics major with a 4.0 G. P. A., Sabine Maguire comes goes to F. S. U. because of the "sense of self-worth and pride" she gets from being here. A German native, Sabine came to the U. S. with her husband a Staff Sergeant in the Air Force in October of 1990. Her most noted accomplishments are being chosen as one of the most outstanding underclass cadets in ROTC and being chosen as a staff member in the Arnold Air Society, an Air Force professional society. Maguire wants to pursue a career in the Air Force and become the first female Combat Control Officer in history.

Sabine believe's that "I can do anything if I pul my mind to it."

FRESHMAN PROFILE

Michael Nelson prefers the small classes at FSU and the opportunity to remain in his home town

Michael Nelson came to FSU because it offered him the perfect opportunity to get a good solid education. Wary of larger schools, with classes that had hundreds of students in them, he chose the personal atmosphere offered here. Although he is undecided about a major, he is already active in school activities. Besides working part time, and maintaining good grades, he is involved with his church, AFROTC and the Arnold Air Society. He was recognized by his ROTC detachment for his excellence as a cadet. Nelson intends to pursue a career in the military, and believes that he "should give it my best, at whatever I do."
